Storm Breaks in Pury.

The market recovered only slowing during the spring and early summer, to suffer new reactions in August, but it was not until mid October that the collapse of the corner in United States Copper, appeal of the Morse-Heinz and the refusal to extend such help until the old control was eliminated. The Knickerbocker Trust Company was closed October 22d, after paying out about $5,000,000 in cash, and runs began upon the Trust Company, which suffered a nearly proportionate loss of deposits. The suspension of cash payments by practically all the banks, and the decision on Saturday, October 25th, to issue clearinghouse certificates on the following Monday, marked the culminating stages of the Crisis.

Not in the field of commodities. The great stock of currency absorbed during the period of panic is returning to the banks, and the action just taken by the Secretary of the Treasury to recall a part of the deposits of public money in the banks will tend to check the outward movement of gold, which in some quarters is expected within the next few months. The financial structure of the country has stood the strain with only a limited number of serious disasters, and will enter upon the new year under much stronger and safer conditions than it began the old year.

KAISER'S SISTER DRAWN IN

Unusual Speculation Culminated in Silent Panic and Real One.

NEW YORK, December 30.—The year 1007 has been one in which there has been much making of financial history, Ir will go down with 1857, 1873 and 1937 as one of the panic years in American finance. The year opened with the feeling in conservative quarters that speculation had already been with the feeling in conservative quarters that speculation had already been carried to an unwarranted height, and that prudenci was imposed by conditions upon bankers and capitalists. But the extent to which capital resources had been strayed was not revealed in a striking manner to the general public until "the silent panie" of March 14th now almost overshadowed by later events, but at the time one of the most serious and remarkable breaks which the loss of nineteen points in American Smelting.

and the decision on Saturday, October 25th, to issue clearinghouse certificates on the following Monday, marked the culminating stages of the crisis.

Treasury to the Rescue.

Secretary Cortelyou hurried to New York and deposited about $30,000,000 of public money in the national banks of the city.

Foreign exchange, which had been adverse, fell to the gold import point, and by November 10th engagements of gold for import had reached $50,000,000, and before the close of December about $105,000,000.

Mond by November 10th engagements of gold for import had reached $50,000,000, and before the close of December about $105,000,000.

Notwithstanding these measures of relief, the country banks and the public swallowed up in the week ending November. 2 about $50,000,000, at the public swallowed up in the week ending November. 2 about $50,000,000, at the same time the bank and trust company situation reached one of its most critical stages. exira holiday on election day, November 5th, afforded a breathing spell for a combination among the trust companies to protect those upon which runs were being made, and the announcement of this plan on Wednesday turned one, of the most dangerous points of the situation.

Extraordinary Relief Plan.

It was not until ten days later, however, that Secretary Cortelyou announced his plan for drawing money from hoards and permitting an increase in the bank-note circulation by the offer to the public of $50,000,000 in 2 per cent. Panama Canal bonds and $100,000,000 in one-year certificates, bearing interest at 3 per cent. This announcement, accompanied by a vigorous letter from President Roosevelt, did much, in the opinion of many bankers, to stay the panic, so that eventually it was necessary to issue only about $25,000,000 of the bends and $15,000,000 of the certificates.

While these measures tended to restore confidence to a certain degree, there was no indication of the renewal of business activity for some weeks. Preservative for Steam Hollers.
Consul-General Benjamin H. Ridgely furnishes the following report on a new Spanish composition for preserving steam bollers, which has just been placed upon the market at Barcelona;
The compound appears to be an improvement on all previous inventions. It is claimed that by adding a certain quantity of this preparation to the water tanks from which the bollers are fed, all impurities in the water and matter that might adhere to the sides of the boller are at once precipitated, leaving the water innecuous. Thus not only is the life and efficiency of the boller increased, but a great economy in fuel is derived. The composition is in the form of a colorless and odorless liquid.

HOLD NEGRO FOR ASSAULTS

Three Young Women Knocked Down With a Padded Club.

SCRANTON PA., December 30.—Robott Perry, a negro, was arrested to-night by the police on suspicion of heing the assallant of the three young women, who during the past six weeks, have been knocked down and left for dead by some apparently crazy or degenerate fiend. Perry was caught in Green Ridge late to-night acting in a suspicious manner. When searched, a section of a wagon tongue three feet long, with the butt-end padded, was found slung across his shoulder under his overcout. The officials are confident that Perry committed all three assaults. The last by the three girls recently assaulted dientified her assail and as a negro. The other two were struck from behind, and did not see who struck them. In each instance the victim was rendered unconsesous, but only superficial wounds were inflicted. This, the police authorities attribute to the heavy padding on Perry's club.

FUNERAL VERY BRIEF ONE Eishop Satterlee Conducted the

The funeral of Mrs. Letitla Tyler Semple, daughter of President John Tyler, and once mistress of the White House, was held this morning at the Louise Home, where she passed the later years of her life. Bishop Satterlee read the Episcopal ritual for the dead and made a brief prayer, which closed the service. Banked about the casket were a large number of floral tributes. The honorary pall-bearers were General Daingerneld Parker, Hilary A. Herbert, former Secretary of the Navy; Mr. Beverly R. Mason, Mr. William A. DeCaindry, Dr. Samuel Waggaman, Dr. G. Wythe Cooke Mason, Mr. William A. DeCaindry, Dr. Samuel Waggaman, Dr. G. Wythe Cooke and Justice Hagner. Mrs. Williams, daughter of the deceased, and the Rev. John Poyntz Tyler, a cousin of Mrs. Semple, were in attendance.

The body was taken to Richmond. Va., and thence to Williamsburg. Va., where the interment will be made to-morrow at Cedar Grove, the ancestral home of the Tylers. The Rev. Dr. Tyler will read the committal service at the grave.

Last of the Family.

Mrs. Semple was the only one of her immediate family left, all her brothers and sisters being dead. She had many nices and nephews living in the South and in California. The last visit she made to the White House was during the administration of President Pierce, in whose family she was an intimate friend. She had been invited many times since then, but had invited many times since then, but had

"IF ONLY"

Realizing that she was getting too old to carry on the school, Mrs. Semple one day sold out, moved to Washington and boarded with friends. One day her friend. Mr. Corcoran, made her promise that should the time come that she would be unable to support herself she should occupy a room in the home dedicated to the memory of his daughter. There she spent the remaining years of her life and died.
